

Further readings

Pitsch, K. 2016. Limits and opportunities for mathematizing communicational conduct for social robotics in the real world? Toward enabling a robot to make use of the human's competences. AI & Society 31(4), pp. 587-593.

<https://link.springer.com/article/10.1007/s00146-015-0629-0>

Scheutz, M. & T. Arnold. 2016. Feats without Heroes: Norms, Means, and Ideal Robotic Action. Frontiers in Robotics and AI.

<http://journal.frontiersin.org/article/10.3389/frobt.2016.00032/full>

Veruggio, G., Solis, J. & M. Van der Loos. 2011. Roboethics: Ethics Applied to Robotics, IEEE Robotics & Automation Magazine 18(1), pp.21-22.

<http://ieeexplore.ieee.org/document/5751970/>

Weiss, S. 2013. Raunchy robotics: the ethics of sexbots.

<https://hcri.brown.edu/2013/06/18/raunchy-robotics-the-ethics-of-sexbots/>